This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Ballots for the November Election.

Under authority of chapter 436 of the Acts of the year 1890, there are furnished yearly, for each voting place at which an election is to be held, a number of ballots not less than sixty for every fifty and fraction of fifty registered male voters, and women voters registered to vote for school committee.

In compliance with this act there were furnished to the several cities and towns in the Commonwealth for the year 1890, one million ballots at a cost of $8,953.39, against one million ten thousand five hundred for 1891 at a cost of $8,175 26.

By chapter 328 of the Acts of 1891, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, at the public expense, was authorized to provide every city and town with blank forms and suitable apparatus, for use by the election officers at each polling place, in the count and canvass of the votes cast at each State, city and town election, and upon any proposed amendment to the Constitution or other question submitted to the voters. Under authority of this act blank forms and apparatus were furnished to every city and town at an expense of $961.79.

It may be well to state in this connection that under authority of chapter 329 of the Acts of 1891, necessary improvements in ballot boxes furnished by the State, and other expenses authorized to be incurred by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, have been made at a cost of $8,530.70.

Troy & Greenfield Railroad and Hoosac Tunnel.

The account of the Commonwealth with this enterprise is still unclosed. The judgment rendered June 1, 1890, on the claim of the Commonwealth against the Fitchburg Railroad Company on account of rental of the Southern Vermont Railroad has been affirmed by the Supreme Judicial Court, and the amount due the Commonwealth, less taxes paid in the State of Vermont, has been paid, in accordance with the following offer of the Fitchburg Railroad Company, which was accepted by the order of the Executive Council passed March 18, 1891.

Under the offer of the railroad and the order of the Council accepting the same, the Fitchburg Railroad Company has settled this judgment by delivering to the treasurer of the Commonwealth its four per cent. bonds, due June 1, 1920, at their par or face value to the amount of ninety-nine thousand dollars, and cash to the amount of $533.35.

The sale of the Southern Vermont Railroad to the Fitchburg Railroad was concluded early in the year, to wit, January 7, 1891, for $175,000, in four per cent. bonds of the last named road due June 1, 1920.

Although there are still 1,200 shares of the capital stock outstanding which the Commonwealth is authorized to buy at eight dollars per share, none have been offered for sale during the year. The transactions for 1891 were as follows: —

Paid for interest on loans,		$420,481 62

State Aid.

The following statistics showing the operation of the revised State aid laws were furnished by State Aid Commissioner Captain Charles W. Hastings: —

The disbursement of State and military aid for the year 1890 shows an increase of $42,251.69 over 1889.

This increase is mostly attributable to payments to widows made eligible by the revision of the State aid laws in 1889.

A considerable portion also of the increase was caused by the applications of newly pensioned soldiers, this class having largely increased by the United States pension law of June 27, 1890.

The reimbursements in 1891 were for payments made by cities and towns in 1890 under the provisions of chapters 301 and 279 of the Acts of 1889, and were as follows: —

Under chapter 301,	$356,214 00
Under chapter 279,	89,838 94
Total,	$446,052 94
Reimbursed to cities and towns (one-half the expense) on account of burial of soldiers and sailors (188), chapter 395, Acts of 1889,	3,211 28
Paid Trustees Soldiers' Home at Chelsea (Res. 1891, chap. 15),	25,000 00
Total for the year,	$474,264 22

The number of persons aided in 1890 under chapter 301, Acts of 1889, is classified as follows: —

Invalid pensioners,	3,413, an increase of	243
Wives of pensioners,	515, an increase of	28
Widows of soldiers and sailors,	3,533, an increase of	540
Widowed mothers,	660, a decrease of	39
Dependent fathers,	35, a decrease of	9
	8,156

The average amount paid by the Commonwealth to each person under chapter 301, was $43.67½.

The foregoing figures show an increase of payments made to persons in 1890, under chapter 301, Acts of 1889, of $33,917.33, and an increase of 763 persons over the number aided in that year.

Of this number 540 were widows, who were made eligible to receive aid by the last revision of the law in 1889. Dependent fathers and mothers continue to drop from the roll, but the pensioned soldiers and widows will probably increase for several years to come.

Burial Expenses of Indigent Soldiers and Sailors.

Under the provisions of chapter 395, Acts of 1889, the agents reported the burials of one hundred and eighty-eight (188) soldiers and sailors, being 107 deaths in excess of the previous year, 1889.

The expense to the State (one-half) was $3,211.28, and the average cost of burial was $34.16.

Military Aid to Indigent Soldiers and Sailors.

The amount disbursed to this class of recipients in 1890 under the provisions of chapter 279, Acts of 1889, was $89,838.94, an excess of $8,334.36 over 1889.

The number thus aided was 2,048, an increase of 114. The average amount paid by the State to each person was $43.86, a slight increase over the average of 1889, accounted for by the fact that the men have, with advancing years, grown more infirm, thus requiring a larger expenditure for maintenance.

The cities and towns paid the same amount that was paid by the Commonwealth, making the average to each person $87.72 for the year.

It is probable that, with the United States pensions issued to this class of recipients, the expenditure for military aid will materially lessen within the next two years.

Deficit,	$1,056,446 80

The large deficit disclosed by the foregoing estimates of expenses and revenue is to be accounted for in the following manner: —

It will be observed that there is included in the estimates a large item of $736,200, unexpended appropriations, all of which may or may not be called for in the payment of outstanding claims. As appropriations are good for two years under the law, they are carried forward to the following year's account and made a part of the estimates.

Some of the objects for which appropriations were made in 1891 and remain unexpended are as follows: —

Digitized by Google

For the abolition of grade crossings,	$100,000 00
South Boston Bridge,	80,000 00
World's Columbian Exposition,	69,811 21
Nautical Training School,	50,000 00
Statue Charles Devens,	15,000 00
Public Buildings,	252,720 85
Total,	$567,532 06

There are other appropriations in smaller amounts, remaining unexpended, which swell the amount to the figures first stated.

Much if not all of this sum will be called for during the current year. It will be observed further that the sum of $100,000, in addition to that included in the unexpended appropriations, is set down for 1892, for the abolition of grade crossings, all of which, from information obtained from railroad companies who are prosecuting this work, will probably be called for.

There is also a class of estimates included in the foregoing table, which, although there is no special law requiring them to be made, are usually made, for the reason that it has been customary for the Legislature to authorize the expenditure from year to year.

Of this class is the appropriation of $75,000 for the extermination of the Gypsy Moth, which has been authorized by the Legislature for the past two years.

Also the appropriation of $25,000 for the Soldiers' Home, at Chelsea.

It will thus be seen that the deficit as shown is not absolute but only approximate, depending upon the expenditure of moneys which may or may not be called for.

Prior to the year 1887 medical examiners had authority to incur expense in the burial of strangers, and to send the bills for such burials and for expenses of views and autopsies to the Commonwealth for payment. By chapter 310 of the Acts of 1887, approved May 26, 1887, the law was amended and these expenses were made payable by the various county treasuries.

An appropriation of $3,500 for these expenses was made each year, although since the change in the law fewer bills have been presented against the Commonwealth.

A circular addressed by the auditor to the several examiners in the State, calling attention to the law, has resulted in sending these bills for payment to the county treasurer. No expenses are now paid to medical examiners, except those under chapter 379, Acts of 1885, for fees for registering and recording deaths, for which an appropriation of $500 will be found in the estimates.

Under the provisions of chapter 428 of the Acts of 1890, an appropriation of $100,000 was made for the abolition of grade crossings, but no expenditures have been made by the Commonwealth. Some crossings have been abolished and many are in course of work. Expenses for alterations in grade crossings have been returned to the Superior Court for assessment upon the Commonwealth, the several towns and railroads respectively, which will require a payment of nearly $100,000 by the Commonwealth.

From information received from the several railroad companies, it seems that $100,000 will be required to meet expenditures under this Act for 1892, and this amount will be found among the estimates.

Normal Schools.

By chapter 384, of the Acts of the year 1891, the boarding houses of the State normal schools are placed under the general management of the State Board of Education; but the accounts of the boarding houses are to be kept under the direction of the auditor of the Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of chapter eighty-seven of the Acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, which placed the accounts of the State institutions under the charge of the auditor. Three schools only were affected by this law; viz., the school at Westfield, the school at Bridgewater, and that at Framingham. A visit to these schools and an examination of their accounts revealed the fact that no uniform or adequate system of book-keeping prevailed. It was, therefore, recommended that new accounts be opened, beginning with October 1, similar to those kept at the institutions under said chapter eighty-seven above mentioned, and that regular monthly reports be sent to this department on the first day of each month, showing the condition of the accounts on the last day of the preceding month, together with the report sent each term to the Board of Education.

As the amount of money handled by these schools yearly for all purposes varies from $15,000 to $40,000, the officers of the school could not be expected to keep the accounts recommended without encroaching on the time needed for their regular work. It was, therefore, recommended that a skilled accountant be employed at each of the schools, whose duty should be to take full charge of the books and accounts prescribed and to perform such clerical assistance as the principals required.

It was also recommended that an account of all moneys from whatever sources received be kept in the same set of books and as a part of the same system of accounts. The recommendations were adopted, and the new accounts opened on the first day of October.

In his report for 1890, the auditor called attention to the fact that the sinking fund established to pay the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad Loan was already more than sufficient to pay the loan, and suggested that the surplus might be added to those funds which, from present indications, would not be large enough to settle their respective loans at maturity. Acting upon this suggestion, the Legislature of 1891 enacted chapter 259, which reads as follows: "Whenever the accumulations of any of the sinking funds of the Commonwealth are sufficient to extinguish at maturity the indebtedness which such fund was established to pay, the subsequent accumulations of such fund may be added by the treasurer and receiver-general to the sinking funds which are not sufficient to meet the indebtedness for which they were established."

It will be seen by reference to the foregoing table that the sinking fund of the Troy and Greenfield Railroad Loan exceeds the loan by $32,152.20.

This loan matures in 1897, and at the present rate of increase the excess will be a very material addition to a fund which is not sufficient to redeem its loan at maturity.

The treasurer has, as yet, taken no steps to transfer the excess to any of the other funds; but the authority conferred by this act will allow him much greater latitude in the management of the several funds, and will enable him to consult more intelligently for the ultimate extinguishment of the public debt.

State House Loan Sinking Fund (1901).

The State House Loan, 1901, was authorized by chapter 349 of the Acts of the year 1888, and by chapter 300 of the Acts of the year 1889, under which scrip was issued to the amount of $630,000, the proceeds of which were applied to the purchase of land for the extension of the State House. This loan bears interest at three per cent., and matures in 1901. No provision was made for paying the debt at maturity. In his report for 1890 the treasurer of the Commonwealth recommended the creation of a sinking fund which should liquidate this debt at maturity. Such a fund was authorized by chapter 224 of the Acts of the year 1891.

An amount equal to the total premium received upon the scrip issued under authority of the acts named, with interest thereon at the rate of three per cent. to the date of the passage of the act creating the fund, was appropriated and set apart as the nucleus of said sinking fund, to wit.: $77,012.26. And each year there is to be raised by taxation and paid into said sinking fund the sum of forty-five thousand dollars. This sum added yearly to the fund, with its accretions from interest compounded semi-annually at an estimated rate of three and one-half per cent., will be sufficient to pay said loan at maturity.

State House Construction Loan Sinking Fund.

Section 8 of chapter 394 of the Acts of the year 1889 authorized the establishment of a sinking fund for the payment of the State House Construction Loan. The total loan is two and a half million dollars ($2,500,000). The statute makes the premium over the par value received from the sale of the scrip a part of the sinking fund for its redemption. The amount of the premium thus received was $125,780, which, at three per cent., will amount at the maturity of the loan to $432,626.06. There is, therefore, $2,067,373.93 to be provided for by taxation. As the loan matures April 1, 1909, the treasurer thought best to reckon the sinking fund requirements in seventeen annual payments, instead of eighteen, making the last instalment for the sinking fund come from the taxes of 1908. Under this arrangement the amount required for each year is $92,038.65, and this amount will be found among the estimates in Part I. of this report.

The Metropolitan Sewerage Loan, authorized by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, has been increased during the year by the issue of scrip to the amount of $368,000. The total amount of scrip now issued is $3,368,000. This loan bears interest at three per centum per annum, and is due in forty years from its date. The whole amount of scrip authorized to be issued is five millions of dollars.

The scrip issued under this law is to be paid by a sinking fund increased each year by assessments upon the several cities and towns benefited by the act.

The Supreme Judicial Court sitting in equity is authorized to appoint three commissioners who shall determine the proportion in which each of the cities and towns shall annually pay money into the treasury of the Commonwealth for the term of five years next following the year of the first issue of scrip, to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements for each of said years, and to meet the cost of maintenance and operation of the system for each of said years.

Under the authority conferred by this act the Supreme Judicial Court appointed, in May last, three commissioners, whose report has been made up and filed in court, pending action at its January sitting. When the finding of the commissioners is affirmed a sinking fund will be established in accordance with the provisions of section 12 of said act. The following tables, taken from the report of the commissioners, are given for the information of the public: —

Massachusetts School Fund.

By Act of the Legislature of 1890, chapter 335, "any money which may hereafter be received into the treasury from the general government, the disposition of which is not otherwise provided for, shall be paid into the Massachusetts school fund." Under this act there has been added to the fund this year the amount received from the United States government on account of the refund of the so-called direct tax which was levied under authority of Congress by Act passed Aug. 5, 1861, to aid in the suppression of the rebellion, and amounted to $700,894.14. This sum was appropriated by Resolves of 1862, chapter 98, and was paid out of the ordinary revenue. The United States government, by Act of Congress approved March 2, 1891, has returned to the Commonwealth the amount of the tax then levied, less the amount due from Massachusetts for arms and equipments, amounting to $4,786.26, leaving the amount refunded $696,107.88. This amount was received in the treasury and passed to the credit of the Massachusetts school fund, so that the fund stands thus: —

Amount of fund Jan. 1, 1891,	$2,729,396 65
Received from refund of direct tax, 1861,	696,107 88
Received from war claims collected,	12,043 75

Total fund Jan. 1, 1892,	$3,665,761 88

There are certain funds in the hands of the trustees of the institutions for whose benefit the funds were established.

The amount of these funds, respectively, is taken from the report of the treasurer thereof, and shows their condition at the close of the financial year, Sept. 30, 1891.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Chapter 179 of the Acts of the year 1884 authorizes advances to officers entrusted with the disbursement of public moneys. Under its provisions any officer authorized to expend money in behalf of the Commonwealth may have amounts not exceeding $150 advanced to him from the treasury to enable him to make direct payment of such small sums as may be necessary for the effective discharge of the duties of his office. By amendments of this act the Prison Commissioners are entitled to have advanced to them not exceeding $500 (chapter 322, Acts of 1888), and the Board of Lunacy and Charity not exceeding $2,000 (chapter 54, Acts of 1891).

To secure the benefit of this act public officers are required to present their application in writing to the auditor, accompanied by properly approved vouchers, where practicable, setting forth that a certain sum of money is necessary for immediate use and the purpose for which the expenditure is required, accompanied by the approval of the board under whose direction the expenditure was contracted. A certificate then issues from the auditor to the treasurer, setting forth the facts in the case, and the money is advanced by the treasurer.

Digitized by Google

As soon as may be after expending such advance, and in any case within thirty days from the receipt thereof, the officer who has received money of the Commonwealth, under the provisions of this act, is required to file with the auditor a statement in detail of the sums so expended, approved by the board under whose direction the bills have been contracted, with receipts or other like vouchers of the persons to whom the payments have been made. A second advance cannot be made until the first is accounted for. Under the limitations imposed by this act, the operation of the system has been entirely safe to the Commonwealth and of great convenience to the several officers, commissioners and boards who have sought its benefits.

The Board of Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners, the scope of whose work is much larger than that of other boards, has been exceedingly cramped and put to much inconvenience by the limit of payments authorized by the statute. The large number of small bills which accrue every day against this commission, and the number of laborers who are constantly employed and expect their wages weekly, call for an increase of the amount authorized by the statute.

I therefore recommend that an amendment be made to the law authorizing advances to this commission of not exceeding $10,000 at any one time, upon the presentation to the auditor of properly approved vouchers, and under such limitations, restrictions and safeguards as should properly surround such an advance of public money.

The wisdom of such a measure is in the promptness and greater efficiency with which public officials are enabled to act, in the regular payment of wages to laborers and in the payment of incidentals and small accounts, which, if presented to the department, are a clog to its business.

In this connection I wish to call attention to the disproportion between the salary of the head of the State Aid Department, in comparison with the work which devolves upon him, and the amount of money which is involved.

An examination of the auditor's report will show that the number of cases examined by the state aid commissioner is increasing each year, as well as the expenditure of money, for State and military aid.

Digitized by Google

The number of persons aided in 1888 was 7,103; in 1889, 7,393; in 1890, 8,156.

The amount of money disbursed for the same years was, for 1888, $406,549.16; for 1889, $430,141.03; for 1890, $474,264.22; while the amount made up by the commissioner, and included in the estimates for the current year, which will be required for payments made in 1891, is $495,000. With the increase in the numbers aided and in the amounts disbursed, the work of the department has become very onerous, especially on the efficient head of the commission, but the salary remains unchanged.

I therefore recommend that section 9 of chapter 279 of the Acts of the year 1889 be so amended that the salary of the state aid commissioner who devotes his whole time to the work may be fixed by the governor and council at not exceeding $2,500 per annum.
